

News from The Bradley Group

The Bradley Group of companies is now an approved coating partner for Precote® USA products. Precote® USA, LLC was established in 2013 as the North American service group for omniTECHNIK, a German company that specializes in high-performance fastening solutions. Precote® USA, LLC is the exclusive blender and distributor of the original Precote® products in North and South America. The Precote® brand is the #1 microencapsulated chemical adhesive sold in Europe with a customer list that encompasses automotive, aerospace, heavy machinery, trucks, mass transportation, electronics, and many more industries.

For more than 30 years, The Bradley Group has been the experts in the application of Pre-applied Thread lockers and Sealants for fasteners and fittings and many other specialty parts. With three processing plants strategically located throughout the United States, The Bradley Group has a processing plant nearby you that is ready to provide exceptional service to meet your demanding requirements. Bradley has been a leader in the industry for applying thread locking materials including Loctite® Dri-Loc® Pre-applied Thread lockers, 3M™ Fastener Adhesive Pre-applied Thread lockers, and Standard Nylon Patch. The Bradley Group is very excited to be able to now offer one of the leading Pre-applied materials in the industry, the Precote® USA products. All materials are capable of being applied to both external and internally threaded parts.

In other news, The Bradley Group of Companies announced that its corporate plant is planning to move in the near future. They will be staying in their current hometown of St. Charles, Illinois; however, they will be moving into a new, 65,000-square-foot, state-of-the-art facility. The Bradley Group will be adding more equipment and new high-speed machines that are specially designed to run your parts faster and get your orders out the door and on the way to you. To see the new plant and to get updates on its progress, please visit Bradley's new website at www.bradleygoc.com, and like The Bradley Group of Companies on Facebook.

Also, Bradley has hired Smith Associates, Inc. to represent The Bradley Group. Owned and headed by Mike Smith, Smith Associates is a manufacturer's representative agency for the fastener industry. They represent domestic, quality manufacturers in the territory that includes the Mid-Atlantic region as well as New England. Mike's team, including Dan Bielefield and Cory Magyar, are a great fit for The Bradley Group, and Bradley is very excited about their new relationship and their future together.
