

Innovative Components Announces Certification for Costa Rican Factory

Componentes Innovadores, Innovative Components Inc.'s fully owned Costa Rican factory, has achieved certification of the new ISO 9001:2015 standard. Congratulations to Hector Orozco and his team for the successful transition.

This certification is essentially important in creating a culture of continuous improvement and evidence based decision making as well as better process integration, which leads to overall improvement of customer satisfaction.

Innovative Components Inc., headquartered in Schaumburg, Illinois, is a manufacturer of plastic knobs, quick release pins, wire rope lanyards, and The Thread Detective®. Innovative Components opened their very own offshore factory to take an aggressive stance against the eventual threat of overseas competition in its niche market.

Additional capabilities include plastic injection molding, over-molding, CNC machining, tool design, mold making & mold maintenance, light assembly, bagging, kitting, pad printing, and laser etching.
